FRY OF OSWEGO ON CFL ALL-STAR STAFF

Ed Fry of State University College at Oswego is presently in Montreal furthering his football knowledge. Fry is serving as an Assistant Director of the Canadian Football League All-Star Training Camp, being held at Montreal's Loyola College. The Oswego staff member is also working on the field with the defensive halfbacks.

The All-Stars after a week of training face the defending Grey Cup Champions, the Montreal Alouettes on Tuesday at the Autostade. Fry stated, "It's been quite a hectic pace so far trying to get ready in a week, but just with the innate talent these pro athletes have, it should be a great game come Tuesday."

Ed will be returning to Oswego following the game. Fry was on sabbatical leave this past year completing requirements for a doctorate in Education at Boston University. While at Boston, Fry served as Assistant Football Coach of the Terriers.
